

Contents

Foreword v

Acknowledgements vi

Contributors vii

Editor's Note ix

Part One: Introduction: Concepts and Framework

1. The Turkish Government Structure from a Disaster Management Perspective 1

Rusen Keles

2. Local Administration and Risk Management 13

Murat Balamir

3. The Macroeconomic Impacts of Natural Disasters 35

Reinhard Mechler

4. Disaster Management Policies in Turkey 49

Nevin Peynircioglu

Part Two: Sustainable Cities

5. Disaster Risk Reduction and Sustainable Development 57

Fouad Bendimerad

6. Earthquake Vulnerability of Buildings and a Mitigation Strategy:
Case of Istanbul 79

Mustafa Erdik

7. The Reconstruction of Bhuj 95

B.R. Balachandran

Part Three: Risk Identification, Mitigation and Transfer

8. Seismic Risk Assessment Survey of Urban Buildings 125

Haluk Sucuoglu and Ufuk Yazgan

9. Seismic Risk Assessment and Mitigation Strategy in Armenia 149
Mikayel Melkumyan

10. A Model-based Stakeholder Approach for Designing a Disaster Insurance: Case of Hungary 163
Joanne Linnerooth-Bayer, Anna Vári

11. The Turkish Catastrophe Insurance Pool (TCIP) and the Compulsory Earthquake Insurance Scheme 191
Selamet Yazici

Part Four: Improving Preparedness to Natural Disasters

12. Preparedness for Natural Disasters: An Overview 197
Paul Freeman

13. Emergency Management in Turkey 207
Adil Özdemir

15. The Role of Local Governments in Reducing the Risk of Disasters 215
Yakup Bilgin Koçal

Part Five: Building the Culture of Prevention

16. Informed Ownership, Training, and Organization for Successful Disaster Preparedness 221
Güler Okman Fisek, Nur Yeniçeri, Gökçe Özkarar

17. Knowledge Management for Risk Management 229
Istvan Fogarasi

18. Risk Mitigation and the Role of the Media 239
Gürhan Ertur and Argun Yum

19. Twin City Cooperation and International Assistance in Emergency Situations 243
Andrea Lovei

20. Working with Earthquake Victims 253
Aysegül Senol