Training: Urban Community-Based DRR-CC Adaptation Planning Workshop

Date: Nov 16-17/ Nov 21-22, 2023

Venue: Ciudad Christhia San Mateo, Rizal

KCoop and TRIAS seek to address the gap in knowledge about climate change and its link with disasters and how it impacts the community livelihood in the long-term. This will hopefully move the institution to action to improve their resiliency and increase the engagement of the KCoop and its members in implementing climate change adaptation and mitigation actions. On the part of the KCoop, the leaders and staff will be well equipped to understand the needs and services that the members need to cope with the impact of climate change, and on the part of the members, they will also be more aware of how to increase their resilience and lower their risks when it comes to climate-related disasters, and be able to do their part in climate change mitigation.

Training Objectives:

At the end of the training, participants shall be able to:

1. Increase understanding about climate change, the link between disasters and climate, and climate change adaptation & mitig
2. Identify and analyse the climate change hazards and livelihood impacts through the impact chain analysis;
3. Develop or formulate individual disaster risk reduction and climate change adaptation plan.

Expected Outputs:

1. Community Hazard Map
2. Climate Change Impact Chain
3. DRR-CC Adaptation Plan (DRR-CCAP)
